Railroad Forfeitures Reported The Southern Pacific Grant.

Railroad Grants

WASHINGTON, January 14.—At a meeting of the house committee on public lands to day Chairman Cobb submitted a report declaring forfeited the land grants to the Gulf & Ship Island, Tuscaloosa & Mobile, Mobile, New Orleans, Elyton & Beard's Bluff, Memphis, Charleston, Savannah & Albany, New Orleans State Line and Iron Mountain Arkansas railroad companies, that have not complied with the terms of their grants by building roads. The report was adopted and ordered printed. Van Eaton read a dissenting opinion advocating a renewal of grants by congress.

The question of forfeiture of the Texas Pacific territorial land grant was then taken up. Roger A. Pryor, on the part of the Southern Pacific Railroad company, made an argument against forfeiture. He contended that as a question of law congress had no right to declare the proposed forfeiture, that being a judicial proceeding, and argued as a question of fact that it would be an act of injustice to do so. The original grant of the Texas Pacific company did not contain the provisions of right of forfeiture, but provided that if the road was not completed within the time and manner prescribed in the act congress would have power to adopt such means as it deems proper to secure the building of the transcontinental road from New Orleans to San Diego. The same act made provision for the extension of the line of the Southern Pacific from San Francisco to the Colorado river. The Texas Pacific company after constructing the line as far as El Paso westward ceased further construction The Southern Pacific when it reached the Colorado river found a gap of 800 miles between that point and El Paso, so, unless the gap was filled, the money spent in extending the Southern Pacific to the Colorado had been thrown away and a dead loss. Then it was that an assignment was made by the Texas Pacific to the Southern Pacific, and the latter company went to work and constructed the line of railroad by the first of May '82. The object, therefore, which congress had in view in making the land grant in express terms "To the Texas Pacific Railroad company, its successors and assigns" was thus attained and the conditions of the act fully complied with. Pryor argued that the Southern Pacific company as the assign of the Texas Pacific, had fairly earned the lands and was entitled to them. It could certainly be argued that it made no difference to the government whether the great object contemplated in the original grant was accomplished by one company or the other if there had been no assignment made at all, and if it were an original question he argued it was in consonance with the policy of the government since '54 that congress should make this grant. He did not however put the claim of the Southern Pacific company on any such ground, but on its legal right as assign and on the faithful performance of the work for which the land was granted.

Another meeting of the committee was held this evening at which D. Robb, of Arizona, made a strong argument against the transfer of the grant to the Southern Pacific.

Pacific Railroads.

WASHINGTON, January 14.—At the meeting of the house committee on Pacific railroads a bill was introduced by Anderson proposing to amend the Pacific railroad sinking fund act so as to provide that the companies pay the sinking fund annually an amount equal to one-tenth of the principal and interest due the government, and a resolution was introduced by Anderson requesting the secretary of the interior to inform the house whether the Union Pacific company is in arrears in any respect and if so whether it has taken steps to enforce the law. It was referred to a sub-committee consisting of Thompson, Jordan and Wilson. The resolution will be considered Monday. It is proposed to offer an amendment February fourth to several bills providing that land grant railroads pay costs of surveying and selecting lands granted by congress Referred to Throckmorton, Crisp and Hanback. It will be considered Monday. Cassidy, Thompson and Wilson were appointed a subcommittee to consider Sumner's bill negotiating freight rates on the Union Pacific and Central Pacific railroads It will be considered by the entire committee February 11.

Anderson's bill, providing the adjustment of grants of land made by congress in the aid of construction of the Kansas Pacific, Atchison, Topeka & Santa Fe, was referred to Post, Millard and Dunham. Monday, January 28, was named as the day for consideration. Persons interested are invited to be present on the days the measures are considered.

Political Circulars

WASHINGTON, January 14.—In response to a house resolution on the subject, the secretary of the treasury addressed a letter to that body stating that employes from Indiana in his department had received assessment circulars from the Indiana republican state central committee, but he had been unable to discover the person who distributed them. He also states that he has been informed that during the last political contest circulars were received from a political committee in New York, but he was not able to obtain a copy

American Wools

WASHINGTON, January 14—The committees of agriculture of the house and senate are now at work on a bill, the principal feature of which is a provision for the appointment of government inspectors of meats intended for shipment to foreign ports in the hope of compelling foreign governments either to receive American meats or state the true reasons for prohibiting them

Washington Notes

Senator Beck introduced in the senate a bill identical in provisions with that introduced in the house by Willis, to provide for the extension two years of the bonded period of distilled spirits.

Dockery and Brewer were appointed at a meeting of the house a committee on accounts yesterday to investigate alleged irregularities under the late doorkeeper, and learn whether any person was placed on the pay roll after the close of last session who performed no services and now asked an extra month's pay.

Representatives of five civilized tribes of Indians will meet to-day and formally protest against the reappointment of Indian Agent Tufts on the ground that being civilized the presence of an Indian agent in their territory is neither necessary nor desirable They will ask the establishment instead of an agency of a U. S. court

SENATE.

Vest presented a petition from packers of St. Louis praying for retaliatory legislation to protect them from the exclusion of American pork from Germany and France.

Sherman called up for action of the senate the resignation of Edmunds December 13th and moved that the senate now proceed to the election of president pro tem and that Senator Anthony be elected to that office. In making the motion Sherman said Senator Anthony was the senator who of those now in the senate had longest occupied a seat in—4; that he had been five times elected by his own state to represent its people in this body and had many times been elected by common consent president pro tem of the senate and had always faithfully discharged the duties of that office. Under the circumstances therefore he hoped there would be entire unanimity in electing Mr. Anthony.

Pendleton, without dissenting from the opinions expressed by the senator from Ohio, (Sherman) as to the qualifications, fitness, integrity, ability and patriotism of the gentleman named for the office moved to amend by striking out the name of Anthony and inserting the name of Thos. S. Bayard of Delaware. The amendment was not agreed to

The question recurring on the motion of Sherman it was agreed to and Senator Anthony was declared duly elected to the office of president pro tem. of the senate and instructed by the chair (Edmunds) to come forward and be sworn in.

Thereupon Anthony rose in his seat and, not without emotion in voice and manner, said: "I thank you, senators, for this distinguished honor. It would be an affectation to say it came entirely unexpected, for I have been for sometime aware of your kind and flattering purpose. It would be still more affectation to deny that acceptance would give me pride and pleasure, but the state of my health, which you all know is precarious, forbids my assuming any labors I can consistently and honorably avoid; although—I would not hesitate to take any burden laid upon me by my brother senators, even at the sacrifice of health if it were thought I could perform it better than another, yet I think it no shrinking duty, no cowardly indolence in me to decline a position which so many senators can fill with equal and greater advantage to the senate and the country. Therefore, senators, with heart overflowing with gratitude for all your kindness to me, I most respectfully decline the position."

The question then arose whether the declination of Anthony retained Edmunds as president pro tem without further action, and after debate it was decided to avoid doubt by a new election.

Sherman offered the following

Resolved, That Geo. F Edmunds, senator from Vermont, is hereby chosen president pro tempore of the senate.

Bayard moved to amend by striking out Geo F Edmunds, senator from Vermont, and insert Geo H. Pendleton, senator from Ohio

The vote on the amendment resulted yeas 24, nays 32, so the amendment was not agreed to. Mahone voted with the republicans. Riddleberger being paired with Williams did not vote The resolution of Sherman was agreed to and the oath of office administered Edmunds by the presiding officer, Senator Garland.

The following resolution, offered by Sherman was agreed to:

Resolved, That the secretary of the senate inform the president of the United States and the house of representatives that the senate has chosen the Honorable Geo F. Edmunds, senator from Vermont, president pro tempore of the senate.

After some further action Senator Hill spoke on his postal telegraph bill.

At the conclusion of Hill's speech messages from the president were read transmitting communications of the secretary of the interior, submitting estimates for the settlement of certain freedmen on lands in the northern part of the Oklahoma district, for the relief of Mission Indians in the state of California, and an estimate of three thousand for survey of lands purchased from the Creek Indians for use of Seminoles

Call introduced a bill to repeal all laws or parts of laws prohibiting pensioning of wounded or disabled soldiers of the United States without proof of loyalty.

Cockrell offered the following, which was agreed to:

Resolved, That the secretary of the treasury be directed to report to the senate as soon as may be the amounts of gold coin and bullion deposited in the treasury and sub-treasuries, designated depositories of the United States, in exchange for silver certificates and for which silver certificates have been issued during the calendar years '78 to '83; or, if more convenient, during the fiscal years '79 to '83 and during the first six months of '84, also whether there has been any refusal to receive such gold coin or bullion or silver certificates, and if so the reasons thereof.

The senate went into executive session and soon adjourned.

The Markets.

NEW YORK, January 14.—Money easy 4 to 1½, closing 2; prime paper 5 to 6½; sterling exchange strong 4 84, demand 4 86; governments firm; railways quiet, other than West Shore. Transactions in West Shore and Buffalo 5s to-day aggregated about $4,250,000. Transactions in West Shores formed the great feature in speculation at the stock exchange in the morning. States were dull. The stock market opened weak, declined ½ to ⅞ and after rallying ⅜ to ½ again became depressed in sympathy, with a break in Wabash preferred and St. Paul. The lowest quotations of the day were generally current at the close, when prices showed a decline of ½ to 3, the latter St. Paul. The depression was due to the appointment of a receiver for the North River Construction, to heavy pressure to sell West Shore & Buffalo 5s, to the announcement that General Manager Clark, of the Union Pacific had refused to ratify the traffic agreement made with the Chicago, Burlington & Quincy and Denver & Rio Grande roads last week, and to the belligerent attitude of Lackawanna toward other trunk lines. During the afternoon there was some heavy buying, both for long and short accounts, which led to temporary rallies. The buying was based on the report that the joint executive committee of the eastern trunk line pool was in session and a compromise with Lackawanna would be agreed on. It was also stated that the objections of Manager Clark to the traffic agreement would be adjusted by the executive officer of the road. Sales 340,000.

The market for mining shares opened dull and steady, and during the morning developed only moderate activity. Bodie sold 4.50, Horn Silver 6 25; Sierra Grande 75; Castle Creek 15; Harlem 13; Spring Valley 90; Sutro 16, La Crosse 7.

Profits in Free Grass.

GALVESTON, January 13.—The News' Austin special says: "A member of the late convention of stockmen estimates that 2,000,000 head of cattle and horses are supported on free grass, and that half of this grass is public property. The net profit is 25 per cent. Two million head of stock are worth $40,000,000. The owners of this stock therefore get out of the free grass a profit of $10,000,000 each year, one-half of which comes from the school and state lands. There is no expectation of any legislation which will compel these profits to be divided with the state."

Wage Troubles

PETERSBURG, Va., January 14.—Hands employed at three of the largest tobacco factories here struck to-day in consequence of the reduction of wages 35 cents per 100. The strike disemploys between 600 and 1,000 men, women and children.

Sharp, son of Bishop John Sharp, was elected speaker of the house. Junius F Wells, son of Samuel H. After a short session adjourned to to-morrow, when the governor's message will be read. There was a small lobby and no enthusiasm.

Plural Marriage

SALT LAKE, Ut., January 14.—Apostle Teasdale, in his tabernacle sermon yesterday said. "Don't go back on the one principle of the gospel. I believe in plural marriages as much as I do in baptism for the remission of sins I will not give up one of my principles Do not fear to face man As for God, I'd fear to go behind the veil to meet those who had given up the first principle of the gospel. The gospel bears testimony that plural marriage is a necessity. The church can't exist without it. It is one of the land marks of the church."

Hoadley Inaugurated.

COLUMBUS, January 14.—Governor George Hoadley was inaugurated in a quiet manner to-day. The Duckworth and Jefferson clubs of Cincinnati, and the Jackson club of Dayton, were the only organizations present from a distance. Governor Hoadley delivered his inaugural, which was quite clear and pointed, took the oath of office and the business of the legislature was proceeded with.

Retaliation

Nutt's Trial.

PITTSBURG, January 13. James S. Nutt spent Sunday in jail. He was very quiet this morning. Doctors Ayres and Wiley, late of the Dixmont insane asylum, spent two hours with him, their object being to make observations from which they can testify for the prosecution concerning Nutt's mental condition. He did not know this and talked freely. The balance of the day he spent in reading, keeping closely in his cell. Major Brown, Nutt's counsel, says everything is ready for the trial. He claims to have evidence supporting the theory of emotional insanity and other testimony, but the character of it he declined to state, which will be so strong that a conviction is impossible.

The representatives of the commonwealth have nothing to say, but Dukes' friends claim that Judge Stow will weaken the insanity theory in his charge to the jury. The same counsel that appeared at Uniontown will have charge of the case. Nutt's mother and sister, Lizzie, who was the subject of Dukes' letters, and other relatives, will arrive to-morrow and remain until the verdict is announced. How long the trial will last cannot be stated. A hundred witnesses have been subpœnaed, and nothing else was talked about on the streets to-day. It is expected there will be difficulty in restraining the crowd to-morrow.

PITTSBURG, January 14. The trial of James Nutt for killing Dukes commenced this morning. The court was called to order at 10.30, and after counsel and jurors were seated the crowd outside was admitted and in five minutes the room was crowded to repletion and the doors closed. The prisoner was arraigned in due form and answered firmly "not guilty." Out of a panel of sixty jurors only six failed to answer to their names. The work of empaneling the jury was then commenced. At 1 30 this afternoon forty jurors had been examined and four accepted. No adjournment was taken for dinner.

When court re-convened 30 talesmen were presented by the sheriff and the two remaining jurors were selected without difficulty. Court then adjourned to 9 30 to morrow The jury as a whole is considered an excellent one. The defense are satisfied an acquittal will be obtained.

Found Dead.

NEWARK, N. J., January 14.—Delmonico's body was found in Orange mountains in a wood near General McClellan's summer house at ten this morning by two boys. They immediately went for assistance and returned with several residents of Orange valley. Upon their arrival they turned the body over, for it was lying on its face frozen stiff, and immediately recognized the remains as those of the missing Charles Delmonico, Letters found thereon established the fact at once Nothing had been removed from the body and no signs of violence were apparent. The ground around where the dead man lay was undisturbed The first two days after he disappeared were the most severe of the season The announcement of finding the body produced great excitement.

It is probable Delmonico after leaving the elevated road train went at once for the Pennsylvania road ferry where he boarded the first train for Newark After wandering about in the neighborhood where his gloves and pieces of letters and other memoranda were found, he walked back to Broad street and boarded one of the horse cars running between Newark and Orange It is probable he did not know in which direction he was going and that when the car arrived at the terminus he walked in a dazed condition along the Northfield road and wandered into the woods The night was intensely cold the temperature descending nearly to zero, and benumbed he probably lay down to sleep and was frozen to death. The discovery of the body was made by two thirteen-year-old boys, Edward Peer and Frank Hollum, who were wandering on the Orange mountain side between ten and eleven o'clock to-day.

NEW YORK, January 14.—The body was brought here this evening and taken to the residence of the deceased, West Fourteenth street The body is in a perfect state of preservation, although it must have been eight or nine days ago that Delmonico met his death The fact of its normal appearance is explained by the cold which prevailed The funeral occurs Thursday morning The remains will be interred in the Delmonico vault in old Saint Patrick cathedral.

RAILROAD MATTERS.

All the Roads Working for a Restoration of Rates.

Settlement Between Western and Trunk Lines Probable.

The West Shore Road Explains Its Position.

Another Railroad Row.

NEW YORK, January 14.—Henry Monett, general passenger agent of the New York, West Shore & Buffalo railway company, defines its position with reference to the trunk line pool ann lines west of Chicago as follows This company is selling western tickets and until present complications between the joint executive committee and Chicago lines are settled desires to pursue the time-honored practice of giving all lines west of Chicago the benefit of uniform rates, adhering to the last rates announced by the joint executive committee in connection with particular lines. West Shore has just entered the field for through tariff and is not cutting rates, but is simply applying to all roads alike the lowest figures adopted by the trunk line committee. The West Shore company is not in the slightest degree responsible for existing troubles and declines to antagonize its connections west of Chicago that have shown a disposition to do business, in fact are already sending considerable traffic over the West Shore to New York and New England points via suspension bridge and via Buffalo. The West Shore now has a through line, has good connections and must necessarily protect its interests by maintaining friendly business relations with all western lines, regardless of the effect such action may have in the contention between trunk lines east and west of Chicago.

Western Roads

CHICAGO, January 14. The meeting of roads in the new tripartite combination with the Burlington road for the purpose of hearing its decision in regard to entering the combination, to have been held on the 17th inst, has been postponed till the 24th owing to inability of General Manager Potter to be present at the former date.

The Burlington's notice of withdrawal from the Kansas City pool goes into effect Wednesday. The regular meeting of members of the pool will be held to-morrow. It is thought an amicable agreement may result.

It is understood here it is probable that a settlement of the trouble between eastern and western lines on passenger business from the seaboard to the Missouri river will be made on mutual concessions, rather than on Commissioner Pierson's circular of December 10, as stated in a dispatch from New York.

Settlement Probable

NEW YORK, January 14.—It was announced to day at Commissioner Fink's office that negotiations with western roads, which have been fighting trunk lines, will probably result in a restoration of harmonious relations on the basis of the circular letter of Dec. 10, issued by Commissioner Pierson. It is expected the Alton and Rock Island roads will formally agree to-morrow to the propositions submitted them and an adjustment of present differences will be followed immediately by restoration of former rates on east bound passenger traffic.

It is evident that America is not the only country that has suffered a fall in her railroad securities The London Economist of December 22 in an article on the depression in the English railroad shares for 1883, states that the market value of sixteen leading roads fell from £261,277,000 to £249,558,000, or a depreciation for the year of £11,719,000 This is 4½ per cent. This is small compared with the depreciation in American stocks, but shows the tendencies

There is a very pertinent inquiry as to the profits of the recent lecture by Miss Faithfull for the benefit of the meteorological observatory of Colorado college There has been delay in making out a statement because the tickets were largely sold by solicitors and their reports were not immediately obtained The reports are all in except from one solicitor, and we shall hope to give a full statement from Professor Loud in the morning paper

The Hon. H B Payne is now 74 years of age His term as senator will not begin until March 4, 1885 He will then be 75 years of age and 81 years of age when his term expires There is hardly an instance in our history when so old a man has been elected to an office for so long a time Senator Morrill, of Vermont, is nearly as old but he was elected because was then holding the office Mr Payne was elected as a new man The papers in Ohio hardly noticed the age of Mr Payne, though it is evident he will be too old to be useful before his term expires

Correspondents of eastern papers give a fuller account of the reception of Lotta in London than was given in the telegraph dispatches Her failure is attributed by her friends to want of appreciation of fun by an English audience But the following little episode given in the Philadelphia Times shows that the audience was at least respectable

'The hissing did not break out until the gay little creature (already ill at ease, I thought, by this unexpected failure to 'catch on') got the hymn book and in unison with Mr George Howard, attempted to sing the hymn tune called 'The Sweet By and By" The storm was not loud at first, but as the players disregarded the warning of disapproval and continued singing, the uproar grew violent and became a torrent not to be stemmed Leaving her hold of the book, Lotta advanced a pace or two, and, looking gravely at the vast audience before her, said in an agitated voice, 'I do not understand this' Instantly the reply came back from the galleries, 'Hymn on the stage! No! no" Naturally the 'Sweet By and By' was untimely concluded "

There is again talk of trying the Rev R Heber Newton for heresy It will also again call forth the remark that the church is bigoted. The latest offense was his sermon on Joseph. The Rev Mr Newton is apparently denying much that his church believes is true If this is so, he ought not to teach as an authorized minister of that denomination and should resign There is a great deal of sympathy felt for these alleged liberal thinkers that is uncalled for Mr Newton is not obliged to believe in the teachings of the Episcopal church He is not obliged to be an Episcopal clergyman He is free to believe what he wishes and join any church he wishes or not join any Under these circumstances there can be no illiberality in the Episcopal church in insisting that so long as he is a religious teacher of that church, he shall teach the doctrines of the church The church would put itself in a false position, if it authorized a man to teach that the doctrines of the church were false, and it does not show illiberality in demanding that its authorized teachers shall teach the doctrine of the church, or else give back this authority to the church It is only manly and honest for the teacher to do this. He should not sail under false colors When Mr Beecher's orthodoxy was questioned, he very honestly said that the church denomination he was connected with should not be responsible for what he taught and he offered to sever his connection with it if it was thought he was teaching contrary to its creed This is a good example for other preachers to follow

The following statement by Mr Horace White gives interesting information regarding Mr Villard's liability to the Oregon Railway & Navigation company

'Mr Villard's indebtedness to the company is about $811 000, and is the balance of account extending over the entire period of his connection with it It was not unusual for him to step across the hallway and borrow money for the Oregon & Transcontinental company when it happened to need it, but in every instance he ordered the loan to be charged to his personal account Sometimes the balance was in his favor and sometimes in ours The present debt is the balance of this long account He has placed the Madison avenue property in the hands of Mr Endicott and myself as trustees simply to protect this debt.

"No, we are not obliged to sell the property within any specified time I suppose that we shall sell it finally but we are under no restrictions in regard to it. The mortgage on it amounts to $167 000, but the house itself probably cost half a million The original mortgage was for $250,000, but the recent transfer to Mr Holmes and Mr Adams, who assumed their part of mortgage on the whole property reduced Mr. Villard's liability to $167,000 The house and land, together with the lots in the rear of it, may be worth $1,000 000 "

"How soon will Mr Villard remove from the house "

"Not before spring, I think," Mr White replied "His house at Dobbs Ferry is practically uninhabitable during the winter season, and therefore, he will probably remain where he is until he can go there There is no immediate necessity for him to leave his present residence Of course, if he should pay his obligation to the company he might revoke at any time the trust deed I do not think it possible that his affairs can be arranged so as to enable him to redeem the property The house at Dobbs Ferry is not incumbered by mortgage It is in his wife's name, having been given to her when Mr Villard was certainly worth several millions "

The Chameleon

Tribes on My Frontier

Philosopher as he is, the chameleon requires food, and since he is too slow to go after it, he brings it to him As his ball-and socket eyes roll this way and that way, one of them marks a large white butterfly walking up the bars of his cage, and he forms a purpose to eat it He unwinds his tail, then relaxes the grasp of his broad palms one at a time (for he is extremely nervous about falling and breaking his bones), and so he advances slowly along the twig until he is within six inches of his prey, then he stops, and there is a working in his swollen throat, he is gumming his tongue At last he leans forward and opens his preposterous mouth, and that member protrudes like a goose-quill steeped in white bird lime For a moment he takes aim, and then, too quick for eye to follow it, the horrid instrument has darted forth, and returned like elastic to its place, and the gay butterfly is being crunched and swallowed as fast as anything can be swallowed when tongue jaws, and throat are smeared with viscid slime But this part of the process is inconceivably vulgar, and we may well leave the chameleon to himself till it is over

During the recent raid on the pension thieves at Washington some startling grounds for the issue of pensions were developed Men who had lost a leg in a contest with a reaping machine were found in receipt of good fat sums once a month But perhaps the most remarkable claim of the lot was that of one gentleman who, on being investigated, asserted that he drew a pension for what he had actually lost in the war "But what did you lose?" demanded the examiner "You seem to have all your members and faculties" "Well," replied the claimant, driven to the wall, "I lost my head at Shiloh and left for home " Another should have been placed on the list for the rest of his life at the highest amount allowed by law "What is your claim?" asked the examiner 'What did you loose?' "I lost $50 at poker the night before the battle of Fair Oaks '

TUESDAY, JANUARY 15, 1884.

SERMON.

Rev. Willis Lord, D. D., at the Presbyterian Church.

In the illness of Dr. Kirkwood, Dr. Lord occupied the pulpit of the Presbyterian church last Sunday morning. He chose for his text the first sentence of the first verse of the first chapter of Revelation:

And from Jesus Christ, who is the faithful witness, and the first begotten of the dead, and the prince of the kings of the earth.

The text you perceive presents us with a small cluster of gems, just two or three separate stars which compose a part in the great attributes of Jesus Christ. Let us together make the richest and rarest crown that we can, and crown him to-day, and where can we find the reasons for so doing but in the words of our text this morning. The apostle first calls him Jesus. A name not only most familiar, but most wonderful, revealed to our faith and love as the God man. To separate the humanity and divinity of Christ, would be to disjoin his greatest attributes. John next calls him the faithful witness. He is the faithful witness, by being the only perfect manifestation of the heavenly father's will to man, he being the witness of the brightness of the father's glory and the express image of his person. Godhead in its completeness, in its own proper state is unknown to man; Jesus Christ is the only true revealer of the godhead. He is also the revealer of the godhead, by being to men, the source, and communicator to men of the divine truth. He is moreover, a faithful witness by having sealed his testimony with his blood. If he had chosen to exercise the powers which lay in him, he could have escaped the ignominy and death of the cross, but he gave himself meekly and unresistingly to die, in order that he might save you and me from the penalties of the law. He it is who is the means of our salvation, and in the world to come it shall be signally seen that Jesus Christ is a faithful witness, not only by those who are saved, but by those who have refused the offers of salvation, and have thus lost heaven and its joys.

The beloved apostle adds, Jesus the first-begotten of the dead. Think of it, in the dread contest between apostates and God, when malice and hate had thought that that they had succeeded in overthrowing the Son of God, there was a new manifestation of God's power, in which death was overcome by death. Jesus entered into active conflict with the great destroyer, and in that conflict he seemed to be overcome, the vital current congealed in his veins, his heart ceased to beat, the deathly pallor was upon his countenance, and he was indeed a corpse. but it was by this very submission to death that He overcame it. Having permitted death to gain an apparent triumph, He arose from the grave and returned triumphantly to life. This statement that Jesus was the first begotten of the dead may be regarded from two standpoints; first, that He was the first begotten of the dead in the order of time. According to this view, Jesus was the first begotten of the dead in the order of time because He was the first one who had returned to life that would not be subjected again to the power of death. All of those who had arisen from the dead previous to Christ had no power to make that resurrection permanent. They all had to succumb to disease and death the second time, but Jesus arose from the dead never more to return to the grave and its horrors. On the other hand we may regard the resurrection of Christ as being first in eminence and wrought by his own power. Death is the seal and penalty of man's fall. When Adam and Eve partook of the forbidden fruit they not only incurred the penalty upon themselves for so doing but the whole human race who have descended from them were placed under the same penalty. Christ became a man in order that he might assume the legal liabilities of man. Acting therefore in the place of man his manhood was smitten and he became accursed under the law, which fallen man had violated. He was indeed the lifeless tenant of the grave, but being God, there were elements in his nature which death could not destroy. He invaded the grave and threw its doors wide open. In which great truth we find that he was indeed the first begotten of the dead. Having thus risen from the dead, he now bears the keys of death and the spirit world. What a hope for the Christian there is in this fact. Though this heart cease to beat, and this whole mortal fabric become dashed and crumbled to dust, yet upon this ear shall fall the trumpet sound that wakes the dead, and I shall come forth. The adoring disciple continues once more, Jesus, the prince of the kings of the earth. What? Can this be so? Joseph's son is the prince of the kings of the earth. Yes, verily, it so. He was a king at his birth and was acknowledged as such by some in reverence, and by others in derision. Though concentrating in himself all holiness, he was not enthroned until after his resurrection. It was his chief office while on the earth to perform the functions of a priest. He is now a king and the angels and all the heavenly host do him homage. And though we see not his form nor hear his voice, yet his laws are promulgated here and men ought to know that Jesus Christ is now king, and that they are to give an account of themselves to him.

When the last day shall come there will be a fuller manifestation of his kingly power, the unfolded future shall unbosom an epoch when the crown of this redeemed world shall gleam upon his brow, together with the others that encircle it now. It is then no vain hope which gilds our conception of the future. He that was born in the manger, and hanged on the tree, now reigns at his father's side, and will at last behold all things subject to him. Thus when under the guidance of the holy apostle, we have considered Jesus Christ, who shall have considered him in vain this morning? Shall we not arouse ourselves to a holier love for him, and renew our zeal in his service? I know we have only caught a mere glance at him this morning, but even then from that glance what an adorable and holy creature we have found Him to be! On him I rest my faith. Creatures may be false, Christ is true. In him I rest my hope. When Gods come upon me, when disease consumes me, and when death overtakes me I shall confide in him, and I shall live and reign when death itself is dead. Oh! my Saviour, what a great and wonderful Saviour thou art.

Oh, could I speak the matchless worth,
Oh, could I sound the glories forth,
Which in my Saviour shine,
I'd soar and touch the heavenly strings
And vie with Gabriel while he sings
In notes almost divine.

Christian brethren, this Saviour is yours. Oh! enthalm his name anew in your hearts and consecrate yourselves anew to his service. And thou poor soul that hast no Saviour, this great and glorious Jesus will be thine if thou will receive him.

NEW COUNTY BUILDING.

Offices to be Built for the Treasurer and Clerk.

For some time the county officials have felt the need of additional office and vault room, more especially the latter. The vault at present is filled to its fullest capacity with the county records and papers and the district and county court books. It was only a matter of time when the vault would have to be enlarged or a new county building with all needed conveniences built. The commissioners at their last meeting took this matter under consideration and decided to erect a building that would answer the purpose for some time to come. They looked over plans for a building submitted by Messrs. Whipple & Roby, and finding that they were about what would be needed accepted them and advertised for bids to be sent in on Monday, February 4th, at 2 p. m., on which date the commissioners will hold a meeting to look over the bids, and if satisfactory accept them.

The building as proposed will be a two story brick, 32x50 feet in size, and will be located on the alley in the rear of the present court house, facing to the northward on Kiowa street. On the ground floor will be an office for use of clerk and treasurer, 23½x26½, fronting on Kiowa street, and well lighted; in the rear of it a commissioners' room 20½x14½ and a vault 18x12 in the clear. The vault will have double the capacity of the present one and be much more convenient in every respect.

The upper floor will be divided into a Judge's chamber 30x19½ and three offices; one 12½x17, one 19x17 and one 10x12; also a hallway 10x17. It is proposed to have the new building completed as early as possible after the contract is awarded, as it is much needed. The building will be lighted with gas and supplied with water throughout. It is the purpose of the commissioners to use the present building entirely for a court house. Judge Colburn will have the larger room for his use; the other offices will be set apart for the sheriff and district clerk and the vault will afford ample room for all court books and papers. Specifications will be ready for the contractors to-day.

In the county court of said county, in the state of Colorado.

Mary S. Morley, Plaintiff, Against
Joseph F. Morley, Defendant.

The People of the State of Colorado send Greeting:

To Joseph F. Morley, defendant, above named. You are hereby required to appear in an action brought against you by the above-named plaintiff in the county court of the county of El Paso, state of Colorado, and to answer the complaint filed therein, within ten days (exclusive of the day of service) after service on you of this summons, if served within this county; or if served out of this county, but in this district, within twenty days; otherwise within forty days; or judgment by default will be taken against you, according to the prayer of the complaint.

The said action is brought to procure a decree of this court dissolving the bonds of matrimony now existing between plaintiff and defendant, on the ground that on or about the first day of January, 1883, defendant, without any reasonable cause, deserted and abandoned plaintiff, and still continues so to desert and abandon plaintiff and to live separate and apart from her, without her consent and against her will, as will more fully appear by the complaint on file herein, to which reference is here made.

And you are hereby notified that if you fail to appear and answer the said complaint as above required, the said plaintiff will apply to the court for the relief demanded in the complaint.

Given under my hand and the seal of the county court of the county of El Paso, state of Colorado, at Colorado Springs, this 8th day of January, A. D. 1884. Edward F. Wright, Clerk.

Appleton's Illustrated Guide to Mexico,

Chapter on Gautemala, and a Complete English-Speaking Vocabulary.

By ALFRED B. CONKLING,

Member of the New York Academy of Sciences, and formerly United States Geologist.

Letter from Gen. Grant.

New York City, Dec. 3, 1883.

Dear Sir—I have read over the advance sheets of your excellent "Guide Book to Mexico" with great pleasure. It supplies a want now for the first time being felt. Mexico, with all her resources of soil, climate, and mines, has not attracted much of the attention of people of other lands until within the last three or four years. Now, with the rapid strides she is making—and is destined to make—toward a commercial prosperity, rarely equaled by any nation in the past, travel to that country will increase many fold, and your book will give the traveler the information he wants. Information is wonderfully condensed in it, and I wonder at its completeness in so little space.

Very truly yours, U. S. Grant.
